

Unitarian Universalists Realizing the Dream

Saturday, August 24, 2013
10:00 AM rally

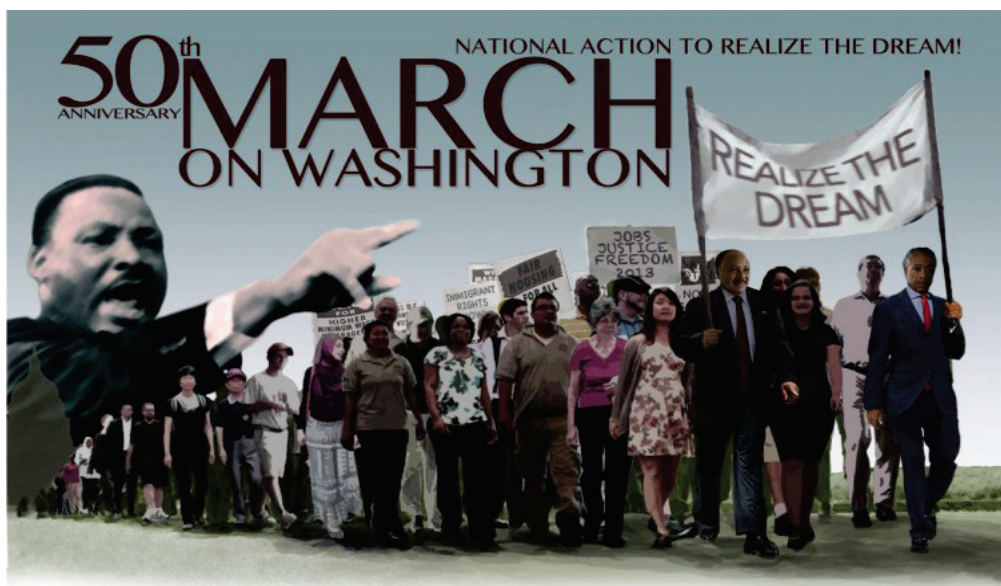

Lincoln Memorial
Washington DC

A half century ago, 1,000 Unitarian Universalists streamed out of All Souls Church to march for jobs and freedom.

50 years later, we are still organizing to realize MLK's dream. In the wake of this summer's Supreme Court decision to strike down a key part of the Voting Rights Act and the acquittal of George Zimmerman in the killing of Trayvon Martin, we are called to take our faith into the streets once again.

Join Unitarian Universalists from around the region and the nation to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the 1963 March on Washington's March for Jobs and Freedom and the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s "I Have a Dream" speech. Together, we will march, sing, pray, organize, and Stand on the Side of Love until Love has overcome all oppression.

Join us for a weekend of events

Dinner, Stories, and Music at All Souls Church

Friday, August 23, 6:30-8:30 PM

Fun and exciting pizza dinner with protest sign making, singing, and stories from UUs who were at the 1963 March. To know how much food to provide, we ask that you RSVP to Jan Smart (smartjuanita@mac.com; put "MLK March" in the subject line). $5 donation requested to cover food costs.

Unitarian Universalist contingent at 50th Anniversary March

Saturday, August 24, 10:00 AM

We will meet on the National Mall at the middle of the north side of the Reflecting Pool (see map). Look for the Standing on the Side of Love banner. Come early (8:00 am) for pre-rally festivities. At 12:00 noon, we'll start marching to the MLK Jr. Memorial. A celebration will take place in the field past the MLK Jr. Memorial after the march.

Worship and Reception at All Souls

Sunday, August 25, 10:15 AM

Please join us for our special Sunday morning worship service, with reception to follow.

All Souls Church Unitarian
1500 Harvard Street NW
Washington DC 20009

All Souls is a 10-minute walk from the Columbia Heights Metro stop and reachable by bus. See www.mata.com for info.

For more info or to volunteer, please contact Craig Dylan Wyatt (cdw@rockrivertree.com; 202.425.4563)